What the jury said:

"The pandemic has highlighted that home - whether we have one or not- is the most important place on earth. Lin Lian-En's much-needed book Home is an exquisitely produced poetic consideration of space. From the rounded corners of the book to the cardboard covers and thoughtful understated use of endpapers, the book makes full use of material elements to create an inviting rich space that can be revisited endlessly... just like home."

情批

Author: Animo Chen

Illustrator: Animo Chen

Publisher: Locus Publishing Company

What the jury said:

"This tender, tense and somewhat mysterious series of poems is accompanied by exquisite illustrations by the Taiwanese illustrator and author, Animo Chen. The book opens with several double page spreads of a stunning landscape of mountains, trees, sea and houses before the words begin. After that, on most pages, each poem is accompanied by an evocative and striking illustration which does not simply reflect the text but encourages the reader to think and wonder. The quality of the art work almost takes your breath away."

Featured Artists

Meet our talented ones who shine on the Bologna stage!

Here we are honored to introduce 10 outstanding Taiwanese artists: eight 2021 Bologna Illustrators Exhibition winners, and two illustrators whose works are selected by the 2021 “The Children-Spectators”, an exhibition hosted by the Bologna Children’s Book Fair.

Hsiao-Chi Chang

張筱琦

Hsiao-Chi Chang is an illustrator who is currently based in Taipei, Taiwan. Her illustration style is whimsical and playful. She is often inspired by the humorous situations she encounters in daily life. What drives her to create is the desire to play and express emotions. A majority of her artworks are illustrated for children. She usually works with acrylic, watercolor, gouache, and Adobe Photoshop, but she is open to experimenting with all types of media.

Oh, one more thing about Hsiao-Chi, she loves black tea latte.

Wei Lan

洄瀾

A wordless book with time as the axis. The guide text appears at the end of the book. It can be read together with an audio CD. From ancient times to the aboriginal period, the Japanese rule, the Qing dynasty, and today, the entire Hualien City's evolution is drawn page by page. With the changes of the times and the change of generations, children are led to understand the evolution of a city. Hualien was called "Qilai" in ancient times. It came from the homonymy of the aboriginal people "Sakizaya". They lived in the northern end of the East Rift Valley of Hualien for the whole time, so this place was named after Qilai.

Train

The train arrives at the little island.

"The island shall become wealthy and mighty, as long as all the residents follow my rules!" says the chief conductor.

People who don't enjoy reading books will be send away.

Same happens to those who speak up, who don't do sweet-talk, who block its ways, and...

More and more people have disappeared, but no one knows where they are taken to.

Tzu-Chun Chang

張梓鈞

Chun is a freelance Taiwanese illustrator with an MA in Children's book illustration from Cambridge School of Art and a BA in Motion picture from Taiwan University of Arts.

The Short Elegy

小輓：阿尼默漫畫集

An elegy is a song or poem lamenting the deceased. In each loss there is a gain, just as in every gain there is a loss. This adage is underscored in each of The Short Elegy's three short stories—Dry River, House Mosquito, and The Ribbon—each of which offers fleeting glimpses of death.

A Graphic Novel Adaptation by Ruan Guang-Min of Selected Stories from The Illusionist on the Skywalk and Other Stories by Wu Ming-Yi

天橋上的魔術師圖像版：阮光民卷

A graphic novel adaptation by Ruan Guang-Min of selected stories from The Illusionist on the Skywalk and Other Stories by Wu Ming-Yi is based on the 2011 novel of the same name by Wu Ming-Yi. The graphic novel is a collection of eight short stories that take place in the seventies at the famous Chunghwa shopping centre in Taipei. The shopping centre consisted of eight buildings in a row. The illusionist and the skywalks connecting the buildings are prominent in these stories, with childhood memories of the shopping centre as a central theme. The protagonists, narrators and perspectives are all different in each of the stories, but personae that appear in one story sometimes appear in another as passers-by. Besides this, memories also create a continuity that makes it seem that the narrators have overlapping memories despite their different pasts. Spinning memories into stories becomes magic, and the narrator skillfully demonstrates his tricks in a marvellous illusion of disappearances, reappearances and invisibility. The last story sheds new light on the stories, making the reader want to re-read them again and again.

Chips Lion: I Can Help

薯條獅之我是小幫手

Empathy and the habit of helping others need to be cultivated from an early age. However, not every child knows what empathy is and how to emphasize others since birth. Seizing the chances to educate and giving lessons through playing are both good ways to cultivate habits. By amusing stories in this picture book, parents can deal with their children's growth and learning issues at ease. They can gradually develop their kids' habits, and the kids' are also willing to be helpful!

Ellie and the Whale

來大鯨魚的肚子裡玩吧！

What do you have to work?" This is the book that answers the BIG question that every child would ask their working caretakers.

Ellie, a quiet, little girl living in a fishy village, encountered a giant whale one day, and it asks her to get into its mouth! The villagers didn't like the idea, but after Ellie's first step, they ended up having fun exploring different kinds of jobs and teamwork in the whale's stomach. On one day, strangers came to the village, saying working is a waste of time. What would Ellie and the villagers do? This is a book that guides the readers to think about the nature of work- in addition to paying the bills, it is about helping others by doing the things we are passionate about and good at, making contributions to the community, and carving ourselves through the challenges while having fun. There will always be people doubting your decisions and path, Ellie demonstrates one of the ways to deal with uncertainty and questioning.

Join Ellie and the whale's journey to learn to be a team player, a pioneer, and an explorer.

What Would Take You away

什麼將把你帶走

This is a picture book of poetry. The poet Miao Wang used brief words to describe the parting quietly, perhaps only like the occasional sound of the wind. Illustrator CROTER creates a scene of Whispers and talkative, like an invisible lens shot on the side, to provide a noisy but speechless background for this poem. This is a picture book about "What would take you away". Perhaps after you read it, you will know more about parting than you thought.

Bon Bon & Jo Jo's Journey Home 邦邦喬喬要回家

From the perspective of two rare Asian parti-colored bats born in the Sixth Fuel Factory in Hsinchu, this painting book shall bring you a journey of the little bats finding their way home. Through the interaction and communication with other animals on their way, the two bats can gradually piece together the appearance of that building with chimney in their memories. We hope that children can explore, understand, and find out the characteristics of the fuel factory in the paintings.

Sometimes in the City

城市裡，有時候

There is no dialogue and no traditional storyline. Each chapter is a full single page of illustration, divided into between 3 and 9 frames, telling a story of city life, drawn as if snapped by a camera in sequence from a fixed position. These stories are moments, vignettes just seconds in length. The illustrations and accompanying text descriptions evoke a wide range of emotions and experiences, and constitute a fresh, unconventional comic book reading experience.

Beep Beep Beep... Take It Away!

嗶嗶嗶... 帶走!

The animals living in the woods find it very boring.

On this day, a poster floated over and said that the amusement park was newly opened. The happy animals can't wait to set off, but the city is different from what they imagined...

The tame hedgehog was so frightened by the sound of the car that it spread its bristles and burst a bunch of balloons from the flyers. Beep Beep Beep...take it away!

The boar saw the sandpit in the park and rushed over to play, but... Beep Beep Beep...take it away!

The hungry lion saw the pet dog and couldn't help but open his mouth... Can the animals complete a pleasant journey?

How the Along The River During the Qingming Festival Got to the Museum

清明上河圖是怎麼到博物館?

What wonders did the 12th-century documentary "Along the River During the Qingming Festival" paint? This picture has been admitted to the palace five times, and was exiled to the public four times, and many "clone paintings" have also appeared. What happened?

When the painter finished the painting and gave it to the emperor, he didn't expect the painting to be robbed during the transportation, so a series of thefts and injustices occurred. Even the woman who vowed to keep the famous painting, the scholar who loves painting and a group of businessmen who copied the painting were all together.

In the end, the emperor turned out to be a member of the smuggled national treasures.

Starting from the twists and turns of stories and interesting pictures, take a trip to the museum, allowing you to travel through historical facts and fictional history, and explore a volume of famous paintings. The original story behind the " Along the River During the Qingming Festival " is so exciting!

Penguins' Concert

企鵝演奏會

A caretaker couldn't get close to the penguins in Antarctica until he started to play the melodica. The music attracted them so he successfully examined and observed them. The penguins stole the instrument, trying to make a sound but accidentally breaking it. At last they lined up, just like black and white keys of the melodica, and made sounds by patting their own bellies.

After a Bird Fell down

鳥落地後

"A dead bird is gradually decomposing, and the seeds in its belly slowly germinate at the same time."
 Except for words and pictures, how can one tell such a short story? From the point of view of picture books and artist's books, After a bird fell down focuses on the book's structural characteristics and logic. By combining characteristics of hole books and pop-up books, After a bird fell down adopts "volume of book pages" into its narrative. While reading, readers would find out the hole bigger and the sprout taller page by page. Via increase and decrease of its volume, After a bird fell down intends to make readers realize that time passing are not simply about reduction and death. Increase and birth are also what time passing brings.

Hidden on the Train

火車上的捉迷藏

"The situation at hand is like a game of hide and seek; everyone is the seeker with covered eyes; everyone is also the hider, hiding from others."

Finn was a forced child laborer at a mine in the Kingdom of East Eagle. He decided to escape from East Eagle on the Central Train, the only connection to the Kingdom of West Deer. As the police were closing in on him at the train station, a stranger came to his rescue. His name was Robert, and he and Finn both made it onto the train safely. Unbeknownst to Finn, Robert was actually a spy. He had stolen confidential information from East Eagle and was ready to return to West Deer. However, the East Eagle government discovered Robert's misdeed and planted a secret police officer on the train to retrieve the information. At the same time, West Deer also sent a secret police officer to protect Robert. Finn thought he could have seven quiet days on the train. He didn't expect to get pulled into this dangerous situation.

The Hidden on The Train pop-up book is a new creative work by illustrator and paper artist Star Cheng. Starting from the train's departure, the book tells the story in a visual manner by combining the structures of an accordion and a dollhouse, allowing readers to be led through the scenes on the train and embarking on an adventure.

Go for a Ride with Mom

陪媽媽兜風

This picture book is initiated by the Taiwan Association for Victims of Occupational Injuries. As we enjoy the daily convenience of roads, metros, and electricity, have you ever thought of the sacrifices in lives and health that make these conveniences possible?

Accidental work injuries that tear families apart happen on a daily basis. These incidents happen without warning, and have a tremendous impact on lives. How can the remaining family members go on with their lives?

This kind of life lesson described in this book, although initiated by the Taiwan Association for Victims of Occupational Injuries, is an inevitable lesson for everyone that is more common than you think. Although dark clouds may never really vanish by themselves, we can at least hold each other's hands, and step by step, walk towards places where the sun shines.

The Shiny Medal of Honor

閃亮的勳章

The Shiny Medal of Honor

This picture book is like a sincere and affectionate documentary. If the law of conservation of mass is established, then memory will never disappear. It is only temporarily stored in a safe or an old suitcase.

One spring Saturday night, Guo-en's mother took an old suitcase from above the wardrobe to the living room. It seemed to Guo-en that his mother was behaving like a pirate in a storybook who had just dug up a mysterious treasure box, so he followed her curiously. Guo-en watched in excitement and anticipation as his mother slowly opened the box.

Through the second-generation mother, the third-generation Guo-en from the military kindred village has seen the grandfather of the first generation in the military kindred village. The inter-generational arrangement is full of strong expectations for cultural inheritance. "Medal" is the carrier of the military's sense of honor, representing dedication and sacrifice being seen by the country and affirmed by the society; "Military dependents" are the most important spiritual support for military personnel and give them incomparable encouragement; "Military kindred villages" has settled down the military dependents, so that the military go forward bravely without worries.

The Taste of Pineapple

鳳梨的滋味

The Taste of Pineapple

Pineapple is a very native fruit in Taiwan. Its unremarkable thick skin is full of sweet and sour aroma.

A sack of pineapple carried from Pingtung to Hsinchu makes the author see and taste this unforgettable and full of warmth pineapple for the first time when she was three years old. This is a story written in the first person about the military kindred village in Taiwan. Through vivid and warm language, it incorporates many important time and space scenes and historical backgrounds. Let's relive the story of the characters in that war era, and many profound elements of the military kindred village are also presented one by one.

The title of this picture book, which is full of philosophical implications, also presents the mixed and varied tastes of people who were far away from their hometown of war, traveled across the sea and took root in Taiwan, just like the taste of Taiwan pineapple in their respective interpretations of their taste buds.

Forest Trip

森林之旅

Is the beauty in the detail or in the large scenery? Is the intimacy in the speech or in the silent contact with the others? Can we get lost in the forest? How do we feel when we finally find a path in the forest? Come with us to observe the beautiful world around us. Sure this book is about the searching friendship and about the searching position in life. I try say to children what is important for them. That they can't be worry. They need to be open to world. And all important things coming soon.

The Little Yellow Umbrella

小黃傘

This book is like a mirror of you, bringing some questions to you. Readers compare their experiences and situation, and they could check some ways and responses with these texts and pictures. To me, the little yellow umbrella is a symbol of "key point". On our life journeys, we rely on these "key points", which come to us at different stages, affect us, and shape us to become who we are now. A key point comes to greet us then leaves, so we can move on with our lives to look for the next small yellow umbrella. Because of these small yellow umbrellas in life, I can carry on my life journey... Looking for the yellow umbrella is a journey of self-seeking in life. Many years ago, I was lost in the remote countryside in China. I tried hard to find any recognizable landmarks. In the distance, a yellow umbrella, soaked in rain and moisture, moved left and right on the foggy hillside. The bright yellow was my only guidance. It moved from side to side along the winding mountain road. Sometimes it went up then took a sharp turn and went down. Finally, not too faraway, I saw it re-emerge. Then it passed me by and waved a bit as if it was saying goodbye. In a blink of an eye, this small yellow umbrella disappeared behind the cliff and was nowhere to be seen.

Granny's Favourite Toy

喀噠喀達喀噠

Where did she get her favourite blouse and bag? She didn't buy them, Granny made them. Granny takes all kinds of requests. Even a giant dinosaur bag. All because Granny has a wonderful, magical toy. A toy that makes a ke-da ke-da ke-da sound. But then one day, as Granny is helping her make a costume for a school performance, the machine breaks! How will Granny be able to complete such an important undertaking without her special toy? Will she make it onto the stage in time? And what strange things are about to happen to Granny's broken toy? Written from the perspective of a young girl, Granny's Favourite Toy isn't just a story about a sewing machine, but a love across the generations and the everyday tenderness that exists between grandmother and granddaughter. Bei Lynn's drawings are both fresh and yet somehow also nostalgic, offering both a child's eye view and an adult reminisce on days gone past.

Mommy Is My Angel

媽媽是天使

Yi-Chin Huang began his career as the illustrator of picture books in 1988, and was once entered into the Illustrator's Exhibition of the Bologna Children's Book Fair. This is Huang's anticipated latest book.

To ease the grief and loss; to love and reminiscence:

The book overflows with the affection shared between the parents and the children. Accompanied by the Angel Mother, the little girl gains the strength to transform her memories of her beloved one into a power that will help her get through—in the face of bereavement.

A picture book that is profoundly enlightening:

This book serves as a sort of guidance that takes its young readers onto an expedition in hope to find the ultimate meaning of life and death, and to reconcile with the bereavement of losing the beloved ones. A heartfelt journey full of love and tenderness.

Animal Village's Festivals

動物村莊的節慶派對

Traditional festivals with 12 Chinese Zodiac animal representatives! How fun is it to celebrate festivals, and how interesting would it be to know about celebrations made in other places of this world! Holidays are important and loved and worshipped by us, but do we still remember where or how do these holidays appear? Every culture has its own special festivals that celebrate different purposes. This picture book combines 8 most representative festivals in the Chinese culture with the 12 zodiac animals to share with children why we celebrate these festivals. Besides sharing with them the meanings of these special days, the book also talks about some of the "must-dos" for these special occasions and how to work with each other to complete these tasks.

Festivals mentioned:

Lunar New Year's Eve, the Lunar New Year's Greetings, the Lantern Festival, the Tomb Sweeping Festival, the Dragon Boat Festival, the Chinese Valentine's Day, the Ghost Festival and the Mid-Autumn Festival.

How many times have we said in our life, "Do you want to hear a secret? But promise me you won't tell anyone!", and how many times have we told another person someone's secret? Don't worry, you can tell your secret to Bunny the Secret Keeper as it never shares the secret it received from its best friend Mei. Mei is not a happy girl, and like most of us, she did some, "not so good" things in her life as well. Like hiding away her friend's toy, or accidentally messed up the library book. Mei told every secret to her best friend Bunny. But because Bunny is the best secret keeper, its backpack is overloaded with too many secrets. One day after Mei told Bunny she now hates her parents the most, Bunny decided "this is enough!" and not to listen any other secrets. His ears are full of clips, and it worked! He can't hear any other secrets now but that day, Mei was heart-broken and chose to tell her secret to Bunny. Bunny felt so bad that he had clips on his ears so he could not hear about it anymore. Bunny couldn't comfort Mei because he did not know what happened, instead, it saw Mei wrote a letter and put it into the drawer. Bunny knew the secrets he missed are sealed in the letter, he must do something to help his best friend. Here begins the journey of a loyal Bunny friend.

My Two Mommies

我有兩個媽媽

Is it weird to have two mommies? Can you actually have two mommies?

I-Lun has got two mommies, mommy Bao and mommy Ga Ga. I-Lun has also got so many questions from her friends at school. "Why do you have two mommies?" "Are your mommies married?" "Don't we all have a daddy and a mommy?" Is I-Lun really that special? Taiwan's first original picture book about homosexual marriage. After legalizing same-sex marriage in May, 2019, the society expects to have more children coming from a homosexual family entering schools in the future. Peers are so important for children and by reading this book with them, we hope to guide our kids through the topic that love comes in different forms but they are equal in another. It is especially important for children coming from the same-sex family to understand that although the structure of their family may be different from others, they are just as equally loved by their mommies/daddies as their other friends who have a mommy and a daddy.

A Trip of Asylum

瘋人院之旅

"A Trip to Asylum" is a fictional story based on Pam Pam's life experiences. Despite its vivid depiction of the serious challenges facing mental health patients, the comic retains its dark humor in telling the story of a young man who gradually uncovers his childhood trauma in the basement of an asylum. The story, set in the early '90s in Taiwan, plays with the trope of the entire world appearing as an asylum to mental health patients.

She also highlights the controversies of recent years surrounding mentally ill defendants in Taiwan's judicial system, forcing the reader to gain a better understanding of psychological disorders before they take sides. She gives dramatic treatment to the idea that individuals with mental illness are often the product of domestic and other forms of violence, guiding her audience to appreciate that a broad set of factors undergird these issues. Pam Pam offers a unique perspective on how individuals suffering mental health issues go about their daily routine as well as fit into mainstream society. She also wants to mention that: normal people are not really NORMAL.

Deeper Blue

藍色潮間帶

In the distant future, robots work on ecological restoration after humans leave the earth.

Day by day. Year by year.

This is a small science fiction comic on the encounter and separation of two robots with no connection.

As a river mouth restoration robot, my works are nothing else but coral farming, transplanting Kandelia, monitoring migratory birds and some others.

Someday at the seashore, I found a beached robot whale in my farmland, as an accident toward my tedious lives.

At the far vacant time and space, the two robots break into each other's lives. They talk, share, kill time, and lastly get back to their own lives.

It's like the people we meet in independent travels. Though having much in common, we say them farewell in the morning and continue our own trip. Maybe somehow like two tired office workers sit at the same table in an izakaya. They pour out their heart about the pressure of lives and separate without knowing names.

This short encounter depicts greater boredom with lives. The boredom exists in the here and now, in the past, or somewhere in the distant mechanical future.

OT Diary

OT相談室

A comic about professional occupational therapist understanding "disabilities" through fantastical thoughts

Living an extraordinary life with disabilities

Leading us to define our own "health"

An OT, short for occupational therapist, often works in a hospital's rehabilitation department. Their areas of practice include: physical rehabilitation, mental health and pediatrics. Occupational therapy is the use of specific activities to help patients regain their focus in life. Even though the patients' physical function does not fully recover, they can still find other ways to maintain their quality of life and they don't have to feel devastated after losing some of their physical functions.

OT Diary documents the stories of nine of Elaine's patients, exploring not how to treat or prevent the disabilities, but the needs deep inside the hearts of the patients and their caregivers while pointing out the true meaning of occupational therapy from a practitioner's point of view. There are also segments about the author's reflective thoughts, such as her feeling of powerlessness after working in the medical system and her frustration that a foreign caregiver knows how to nurse her father better. Every segment leads us to define our own "health".

Elaine's comic style is simple and unadorned. Yet she can always pinpoint certain moments that challenge our perception of the rigorous medical science with her wild and girlish fantasies.

Darkness in the Caves

暗mi-moo (增訂新版)

The picture book is about "darkness". It tells the story of Amomos, who have lived in the cave for a long long time. They have no idea what "light" is. In their mind, the world outside of the cave could be really scary and there are evil spirits everywhere. One day, when Donmomo was on the way to a "mushroom finding" adventure, Donmomo accidentally saw the Sun and brought the "brightness" back to the cave. Most Amomos in the cave were curious about the adventure, but some others just didn't believe it. They said that Donmomo was a liar! Donmomo, who finds something different, is being considered as "different one" in the group.

The story tells about the darkness and trust. The author built up the story with relatively colloquial Taiwanese lexicons and phrases. The title of the book "暗 mi-moo" is a very common expression of "darkness" in Taiwanese. Children learned this word in the very young age, so the keyword help them to get into the story easier. The colorful pictures make the book more attractive to read.

Parents and their children can take an adventure into the world of darkness and brightness together.

Did You Have a Bite of My Radish Cake?

Tsiâ偷食菜頭粿?! (增訂新版)

A-tshiu received fresh radishes from her Dad. She couldn't wait to make a radish cake right away. She followed the steps learned from home to make it. When the cake was ready to enjoy, she was so excited to open the steamer. Surprisingly, someone already had a bite of the cake. A-tshiu had no idea of what's happening and tried so hard to find "the suspect". So she asked the dog, rabbit, pig, squirrel, ants.... "Did you have a bite of my radish cake?". Sadly, no one admitted it. When A-tshiu was trying to find the answer, she asked the same question again and again. Kids can learn the sentence pattern easily in the repetition. When A-tshiu was doing the "interrogation", there so many expressions of "eating" to learn. The difference of word choice shows different levels of how the animals love to eat. There are so many ways to describe the body language of the animals. "You're licking your lips, and you're mouthwatering." These are the evidence that make them a potential suspect.

Let's Find the Shelter from the Rain

來tshit-thô (增訂新版)

In the summer afternoon with heavy rain, the girl A-hông was going home with her red umbrella. She met so many insects on her way home. Everyone asked her "can you bring me home with you? I feel so cold out here". Similar sentence patterns repeatedly appear here, so kids can catch them quickly. After the warm-hearted A-hông took them home, she conducted interviews to know them better. The insects told her about their living environment, how they live and what they eat.... In the story, kids can learn the Taiwanese names of cicadas, dragonflies, butterflies, scarabs, bees, and unicorns. Kids also learn how to describe the feeling of "cold" in Taiwanese. It can be freezing, chilling, shivering.... Besides the knowledge of the language, after reading the story, they get to know some facts of the nature.
